INTRODUCTION

Dear CBPH,

This is not a generic clinic brochure with your name pasted on. It is how your hospital — your therapists, your female department, your Panchlaish rooms — would run on ChamberQ: quieter halls, clearer serials, and a website that already feels like CBPH.

When someone in Chattogram searches for recovery at CBPH, they should land somewhere that feels like you — not a template hospital.

553 O.R. Nizam Road, GEC, Panchlaish, Chattogram · August 2026

YOUR DIGITAL FRONT DESK

We set ChamberQ up as CBPH's front door — one face for the hospital, every therapist on it, booking that matches how your families already call for a serial.

No app to install. No password to remember. A ticket they can save, print, or forward on WhatsApp.

Built for

CBPH

Website · phone booking · ticket · waiting-room TVs · staff & therapist screens for notes, home programmes, and follow-up — all under your CBPH colours and story.

A MORNING WITH YOUR PATIENTS

FROM PANCHLAISH SEARCH TO CABIN CALL

A stroke patient's daughter opens your CBPH page. She sees stroke rehab, pain & paralysis, sports injury, neurological and orthopedic care — and faces she recognises: Dr. Antar Das, Batia Nahar Ahsan (Female Dept.), Dr. Mohammad Golam Eazdani.

She books Batia's evening sitting, tomorrow's date, and mother's phone. If father already booked with Antar on that number, she picks who this visit is for. She gets a ticket with a serial.

Ticket on the phone — no login account for patients

WHAT SLOWS A BUSY CLINIC DAY

MOST MULTI-CABIN DAYS STRUGGLE WITH

Mixed queues

One phone for the whole family, but Antar’s serial and Female Dept. must not collide on the same board.

Hallway noise

“When will they call us?” repeats all morning when the TV and ticket do not agree on who is next.

Paper programmes

Home exercises leave with the patient — and vanish from memory by the second day.

One desk, many rooms

Reception already serves every cabin. The software should switch boards the same way — not force a separate system per therapist.

HOW CHAMBERQ FITS CBPH'S DAY

- | | | |
|----------|--|--|
| 1 | Your branded website & Book | CBPH colours, logo, treatments, team, reviews, FAQ — and Book in the header so Chattogram finds you first. |
| 2 | Serial booking on the phone | Patients take a serial for the therapist they came for. Ticket they can save, print, or forward on WhatsApp. |
| 3 | Waiting-room & outdoor TVs | One link per sitting. Antar's screen never shows Batia's list. Reception bookmarks "today" for that cabin. |
| 4 | Consult & home programmes | Notes stay in the cabin. Print a plan or send a short WhatsApp / SMS link — not the full clinical file. |

SHARED DESK. PRIVATE CABINS.

One Live Queue Control

Reception's counter

Switch Antar's board → Batia's → Eazdani's on the same screen. Walk-ins drop onto the right sitting. Close the hospital, one room, or one therapist.

Busy-day rhythm

Start → Call → Arrived → Complete

Also skip no-shows, mark late, pause, end the day. You choose whether reception runs the queue (usual for CBPH) or a therapist does.

Each therapist's room

Notes stay in the cabin

Their sittings, serials, Consult Screen, prescriptions, medicine favourites, SMS habits — and late or day-off only for their list.

HOME PROGRAMMES & WHAT WE BUILD

Sending the plan home

- Follow-up: “1 week”, “as needed”, or a date
- Medicines from a searchable list — including “same as last visit”
- Print a clean copy for the patient
- WhatsApp / SMS link: medicines, advice, follow-up — not the full file

We set up your CBPH

- Panchlaish clinic & female department room if separate
- Your physiotherapists and logins
- Morning / evening sittings with a daily cap you choose
- Reception on Live Queue Control; one TV bookmark per sitting
- Website copy and photos in your voice

KEPT SIMPLE ON PURPOSE

Therapy packages (e.g. 10 sessions) stay how you sell them; each visit still takes its own serial. Patients do not create login accounts — ticket link and phone lookup are enough.

TRANSPARENT INVESTMENT

LET'S GET STARTED

When it is working, families ask “when should we come?” less, the waiting area feels fairer, and CBPH looks as organised online as you are in Panchlaish.

Next step

1. You tell us which therapists and sittings start first
2. We build your CBPH site, schedules, and logins
3. Short training — reception on boards & TVs; therapists on consult & home plans
4. Soft launch beside your current phone booking — no big-bang day required
5. Everyday: your desk runs the halls; your therapists see the right patient in the cabin

GET IN TOUCH

Message me on WhatsApp. We will walk you through your flow live: book as a CBPH patient → see the TV → call a serial → open the cabin screen → send a plan home.
